

Inscription for a Convent

Martin Robertson

Here must the longing blood allay its heat, flesh cast its bloom and shapely hands grow sharp.
Here be content only to form and keep peace in the heart.